

Rabbit FAQs

Are rabbits just cute and fluffy?

Rabbits can be very aware and intelligent and have much to teach their person about themselves and their life. I have worked with rabbits that showed a great deal of “rabbit intelligence”.

My rabbit does not get along with it's companion, what should I do?

Rabbits have strong likes and dislikes, like the rest of us! Some rabbits just want their person all to themselves. If you have gone through the normal bonding steps and they just don't get along, it is important to find out why your rabbit does not like this specific companion. This knowledge will allow you to better assess the situation and, if need be, find the “perfect” home for the other rabbit.
